Program objectives
1. Identify classification and diagnostic criteria of various vasculitic syndromes.
2. Discuss the manifestations, complications and treatment of Giant Cell Arteritis.
3. Define the features of ANCA-associated vasculitis and design an appropriate therapeutic regimen.
4. List the key features of CNS vasculitis, along with an appropriate diagnostic workup.
5. Describe the pulmonary manifestations and complications of different forms of vasculitis.
6. Determine the impact of renal involvement in various forms of vasculitis and devise strategies to prevent progression.
7. Explain the relationship between the cutaneous and systemic manifestations of vasculitis.

Purpose
The overall symposium objective is to clarify the current understanding of vasculitis and to outline the clinician’s approach to diagnosis and management of vasculitis as an illness.

Target audience
Rheumatologists, nephrologists, orthopaedists, radiologists, general practitioners, residents, PAs, PharmDs, APRNs, RNs, LPNs, allied health and medical students
